The Best Of Times

The best of times is now.

What's left of summer but a faded rose?

The best of times is now.

As for tomorrow, well, who knows? who knows?

So hold this moment fast.

And live and love as hard as you know how.

Hold it fast.

And make this moment last because the best of times is now,

Now, not some forgotten yesterday.

Now, tomorrow is too far away.

And make this moment last because the best of times is now.

GOOD LUCK IN RETIREMENT!

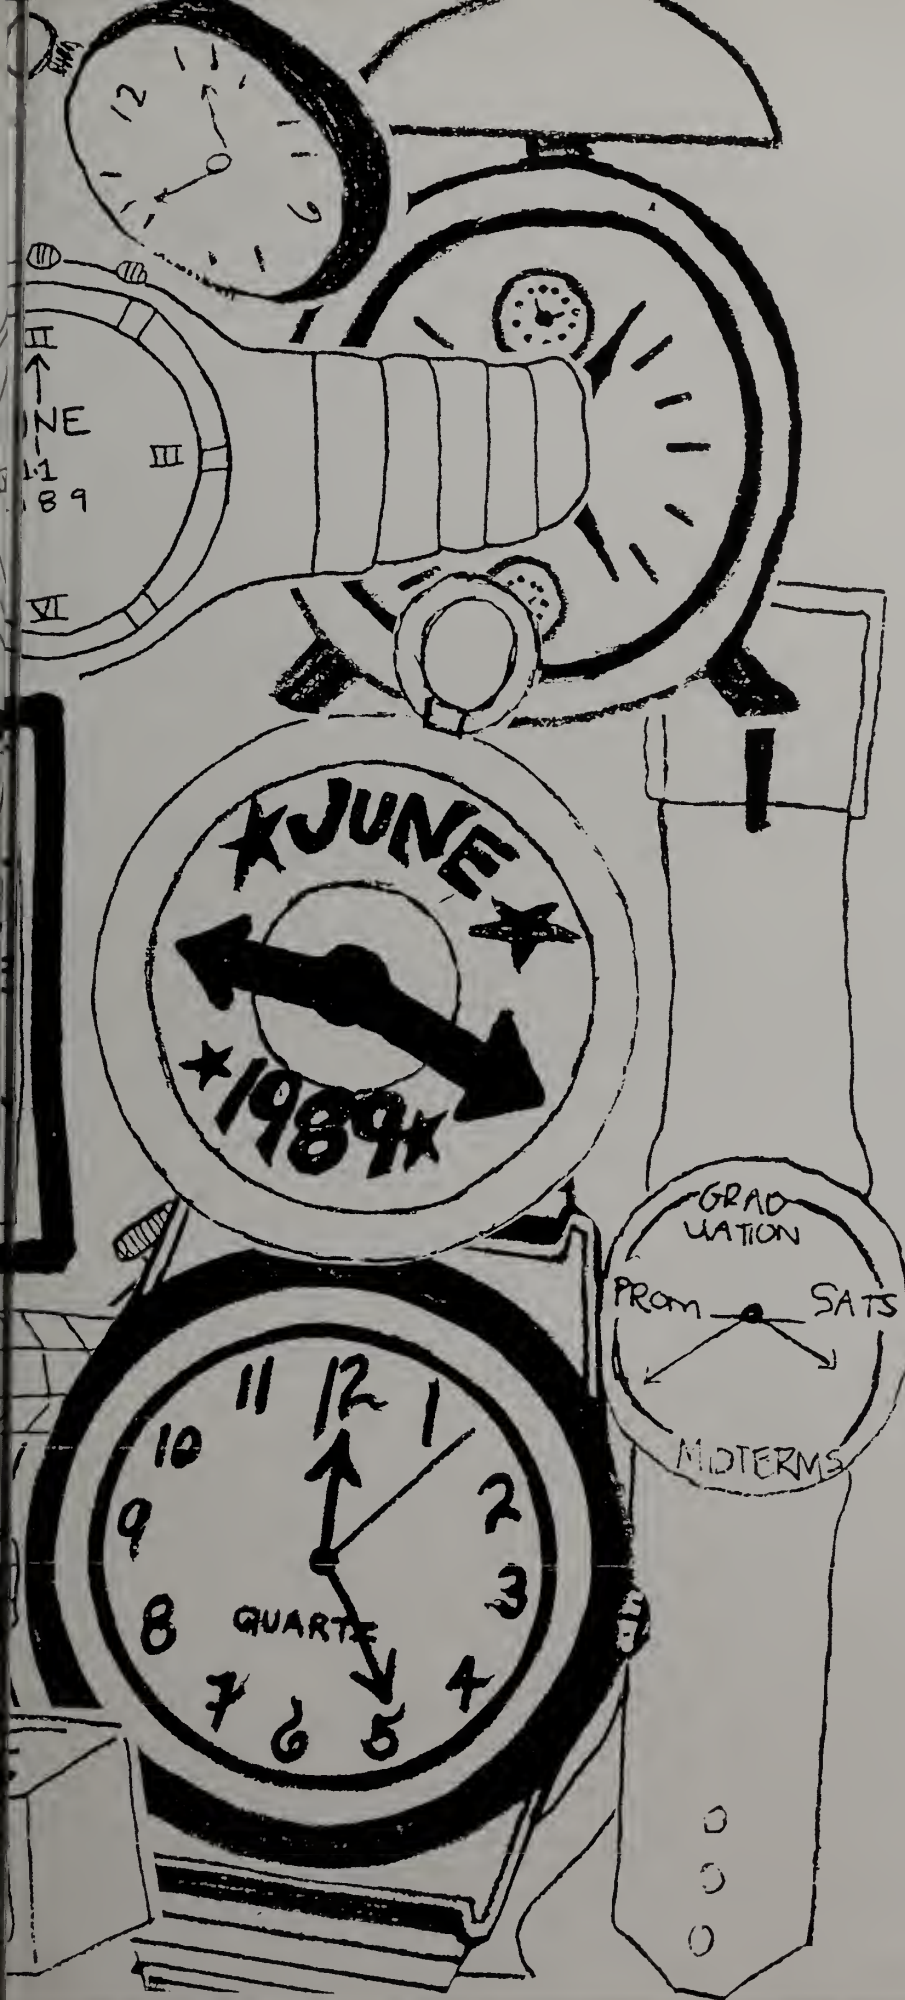

In keeping with the theme of the Tiger Times, we would like to thank the man behind the "Re-Admit Slips"- it's about time to thank Mr. McKenzie. Mr. McKenzie came to Ipswich High School in September 1958 as a math teacher and then later became vice principal. His trademark-jingling keys-can be heard echoing throughout the school. John Thomas, IHS Class of 1967, remembers that those keys struck fear into all students deterring misbehavior. All it would take was the sound of those keys; their effect is just as potent in 1989 as it was in 1958.

It's also rumored that in 1966 Mr. McKenzie had a plethora of wild ties to hand out to young men who had "forgotten" their own. It is further rumored that he had a ruler to measure young women's skirts to make sure they were below the knees. Joseph Rogers, our past principal, wonders if Mr. McKenzie remembers the "Old School" and the student, Rollie Singer!

Times have changed since the "Old School," but Mr. McKenzie has continued to always be available for students. He is a caring friend looking out for our best interests. Without him, graduation would never come about. His never ending energy, advice, and constant guidance to classes over the years cannot be measured. He has educated us in every meaning of the word- from freshman orientation to graduation rehearsal. Thank you for everything Mr. McKenzie- you will be missed.

FACULTY

IT'S ABOUT TIME . . .

To Appreciate The Commitment And Efforts Of The Faculty Inside And Outside Of The Classroom.

You all know who he is. There is no one else like him—no other teacher spends his days playing Scruples with his psychology classes, or gliding down the halls on rollerskates. His name is Ron Toleos; he came to Ipswich the year most of us were born, and left after the first quarter of this year.

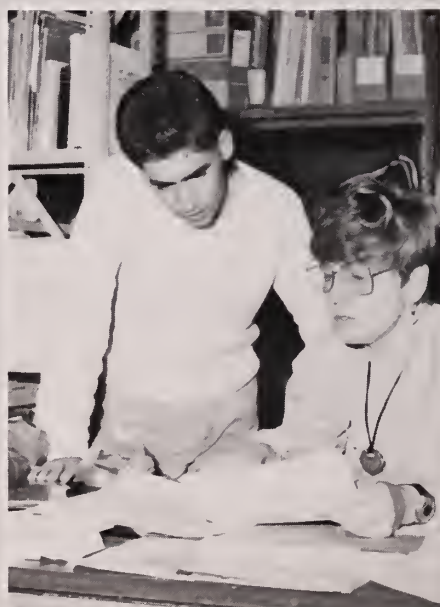

Mr. Toleos was never your average teacher. He told us weird Freudian things with that familiar devilish gleam in his eyes, the look of a child who found his Christmas presents a month early; that look that said he had something wonderful to share.

His goals in life were to find "the truth" and to help humanity through music, through the presidency of the Ipswich Teachers Association, and through his classes—but most of all, he wanted to be where the action was. If we wanted to try something out of the ordinary, like sponsoring a schoolwide fundraiser, playing Christmas music over the intercom between classes, or organizing a chapter of Amnesty International, we knew where to go. If our lives were in shambles, he was always willing to listen and help.

Now Ron Toleos is off to where the action is - to one of the most challenging schools in the state. He is the new vice-principle at Chelsea High School, participating in an experiment that warranted an article in Tim Magazine.

Mr. Toleos- we will always miss you, but we know that your commitment to helping others will flourish in all your upcoming challenges.

ADMINISTRATION

To the Members of the Class of 1989:

I appreciate being given the opportunity by the editorial staff of "Tiger" to share a few thoughts with you as you leave Ipswich High School. I feel an affinity with your class in that we both came to Ipswich High School in the Fall of 1985. Both of us lacked the experience that formed the school background of the sophomores and upperclassmen who "knew" our school in 1985. Together we went through many changes that caused more consternation among them than among us freshmen.

Throughout your four years here I have watched you grow intellectually, academically, physically and socially. Although you are a diverse class, in many ways you are a class together. I have admired the way you have been able to involve a large number of your classmates in your fund raising and social activities. This feeling of class togetherness will provide many pleasant memories as the years go by and you remember your days at IHS.

It is my sincere hope that each of you will be able to feel that Ipswich High School has prepared you well for your adult life and your next career. Our nation needs citizens like you whose concerns go beyond their own comfort and who are willing to help their compatriots work to make our society one of racial and ethnic harmony, prosperity and justice for all.

God bless you in all your endeavors.

Vice Principal's Message

To the Class of 1989:

As you and I leave these "hallowed halls" together, I am sure we share feelings of joy and sadness, relief and excitement, but above all, concern as to what the future holds for us. You face the rigors of college or the working world, which are bound to be much more difficult and demanding than anything you have experienced to date. I look back on the many pleasures I have experienced here at Ipswich High, but also ahead to what I hope to be many years of a greater variety of pleasurable experiences.

As we go our separate ways, I wish for all of us health and happiness, full and productive lives, and that once in a while we stop to smell the roses. Good bye and good luck.

ENGLISH

The English Department

Wandering the hallowed halls of Ipswich High School for the last time, the scarcely contained echo of my heels, as they click down the corridor, mirrors the irrepressible excitement bubbling inside me. I become a transparent eye-ball; for one transient moment I am part and parcel of the English Department. The times that tried our souls flood my mind on the waves of the ever-changing edicts of the MLA Handbook. Have we really escaped the tenuous grasp of The Lively Art of Writing? Write Me a Ream? Et tu . . . D.E.W.? Wild Bill? Phyllis? Faust? Emerson? Benedetto? As for me, give me liberty or give me death! My pace unconsciously quickens but one last question plagues me. Is 'this' an adjective or a pronoun? An involuntary shudder wracks me as I wonder if a college version of Warriner's has been erected to haunt us . . .

The Art Department

Although Art is not a required subject at Ipswich High School, classes are always full. You do not have to be a future Monet or Picasso to take these classes. Some students' prior artistic experience consists of doodling on notebooks. When asked why they take these classes, some say it is because of the atmosphere in the art room, with its brightly colored beams, its intriguing sink (bathtub?), and the tone of Mrs. King's voice.

Naomi Cottrell

The Music Department

At Ipswich High School, we are fortunate to have three excellent music teachers. Mr. Dolan, who teaches Music Theory, also directs both Concert and Jazz Band. Mrs. Cirrito directs the Bel Canto select choir. Mrs. Cayot directs the Concert Choir. All of these ensembles taught at Ipswich High School perform in seasonal concerts as well as in parades, competitions, the Honors Assembly, Graduation, and Class Day.

MATH

The Math Department

Math. To a few it's commonplace, yet to many students each problem can be a harrowing experience. From Algebra word problems to Calculus theories, every step is a challenge that the student at Ipswich High School must brave through at one time or another. The Math Department has been the guiding light down the long, treacherous path to success. They have helped us over dangerous proofs, through dark functions, under low-hanging geometric shapes, and around dismal word problems. But just when equations were closing in and SohCahToa's were everywhere, the Math Department pulled us out into the sunlight.

Now that we have reached the end of the path, maybe, just maybe, someone will use his algebra to figure out how long it takes Sally Sue to ride her bike x miles east, $2x$ miles north and $5x + 1$ miles south of west of her home if she does all this on Monday morning at 7AM . . .

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

The Foreign Language Department

Foreign—Belonging to or concerned with another nation

Language—Vocal symbols by means of which human beings interact and communicate

Department—Separate division or branch, as in government organizations, business, retail, stores, or schools

According to The Scribner Bantam English Dictionary, that is the definition of a foreign language department. But here at Ipswich High School, it is much more. The teachers have given students the opportunity to blossom, experiment, and experience something different from math or science—a change from formulas and equations to accents and tones. French, Spanish, Russian, and Latin have been a much needed diversion from the core requirements at IHS. Although all of these teachers employ their own individual teaching methods, they are all working towards the same goal—to be the best educators any student could have.

SCIENCE

The Science Department

Passing through the IHS Science Department is an experience which transcends the ordinary limits of physics, slipping into the realm of metaphysics. As new converts in basic biology, we were bombarded with a flurry of instructive packets. Clock-watching became our sole source of entertainment. During sophomore year, the witnessing of "awesome demos" mesmerized us. We learned a new way of worship in the chanting of the elements song, and were deemed "geeks" and "triple re-treads." Intuitively, as juniors we flocked to physics softball. Unfortunately, the earth's gravitational force plucked Mr. Quigley from our midst. His replacement demonstrated sheer spiritual stamina and a strong hand as he brought an Eastern influence to our Western thought. We were thus reborn into Biology. Our biological bibles are bigger and better than any before as we continue our pilgrimage toward higher knowledge and greater spiritual awareness . . .

BUSINESS AND LIBRARY

The Business Department

The Business Department provides an exploratory experience for students going to college as well as providing entry level training for those going directly into the job market.

Another aspect of the Business Department is the business club, Business Professionals of America, otherwise known as OEA. The business club has been at Ipswich since 1974 and provides an opportunity for students to test their business skills. Every spring, members of the business club enter a state and national contest where they always perform exceptionally well. This demonstrates the commitment of our business teachers, as well as the enthusiasm of the students.

SOCIAL STUDIES

The Social Studies Department

The Ipswich High School Social Studies Department is creative, helpful, and energetic. Each member of the department adds a special touch to the environment and the curriculum of the school.

Ron Toleos, our department head, was known for using some rather strange teaching techniques. Classes often found themselves outside chanting Indian spirituals or stumbling blindly about on trust walks.

Rick Storer, best known for Western Civilization, starts his class everyday with a smile and a joke. Mr. Storer is also involved with many activities from the Leadership Project to the Ipswich High School track team.

Our political science teacher, Ken Spellman, may teach U.S. government by day, but he is also a football coach and student government advisor.

For economic and foreign culture classes stop in Mr. Dembowski's room. He conducts his class with humor and concern for students.

Jane Rotsko, with her enthusiasm for history, has taken the department by storm. She has generated freshmen participation in the political process.

It is obvious that the members of the Social Studies Department have a great amount of talent, experience, and enthusiasm.

ATHLETICS

The Athletic Department

The newly expanded Athletic Department at IHS consists of various opportunities for students to develop their athletic ability. To ensure safety, the department has hired an athletic trainer to prevent and treat injuries. Gym teachers have emphasized fitness as well as specific sports. Health is also heavily stressed. Together these teachers are committed to teaching sports and fitness that can be useful throughout life.

LEADERSHIP PROJECT

The Leadership Project is a special organization in our community. It dedicates itself to the development of leadership models and programs which are designed to enhance young people's lives. The project also hopes to reduce incidence of drug and alcohol abuse. This program believes that adolescents are very responsible and capable people who have a great impact on their community. One important goal is to create a more positive environment which can better address substance abuse and other issues.

UNDERCLASSMEN

IT'S ABOUT TIME . . .

To Notice The Often Unnoticed; To Gear Up For Health And Project Adventure; And To Start Thinking About The Future.

FRESHMEN

As Freshmen we entered the crowded halls, on the first day of school, not knowing what to expect. We didn't know if we would be stuffed into lockers or thrown into trashbarrels. As the day progressed we soon forgot all our fears, because we were too busy trying to find our way around. Getting to class on time was almost impossible! One thing that made the girls forget their fears was the senior guys, who we drooled over hoping to talk to someday.

We also learned (extremely fast) that freshmen aren't supposed to take senior seats at lunch or assemblies. Another thing we learned pretty quick, was not to leave our lunches in our unlocked lockers. As the day ended, there were sighs of relief from the entire freshmen class, as well as miserable looks on some faces saying, "Do we have to come back?"

Now we have finished our first year of High School. Already we have many memories. But, like it or not, we still have another three years to go. We wish everyone good luck and hope you have a blast because, "These are the best days of your lives!" (sound familiar?)

FRESHMAN TIMES . . .

Though it is their first year at IHS, this year's freshmen have already made their mark on the school. The class itself expects Jessica Budd, Callie Cameron, and Jessica Leonard to take an award by dating $\frac{1}{2}$ of the senior class. They also feel that Callie Cameron, Ian Stephens and Tracy Doyon made their mark on the fashion scene of the high school by being voted the most fashion conscious people in the class of 92.

According to the freshman class, most of the giggles in the 1st wing came from Nicole Davis, Katie Greenberg, Sarah Joss, Joe Doherty and Amber Kellow. Other noisy freshmen are the "metalheads", particularly Pat McMillan, Greg Brotherton, Nick Schneider, Amy Hetnar, Jay Vitale and Sean Willis.

The one thing most freshmen are known for is being totally and completely "clueless" - being late, dropping books, and always ending up in the wrong places. The freshmen class felt that Jessica Budd, Jessica Leonard, Mike Fecteau, Adrienne DeSilva, Kathleen McDonnell, and Stephanie Poltack were the most "clueless" of all.

SOPHOMORES

As sophomores, we as a class should be smarter, better-mannered and more mature than last year, says society. Well, who believes society?

We have thought of a new and incredible game with rectangularly shaped objects. We call this the dump! Many of our so-called more mature dumpers dump bags for a hobby. We also can't forget the fair of Jamie Hull and Dan Cole can we? (a.k.a. Skuller and Digger)

Our class officers have tried to take on the world like lions, though they end up more like mice. During the year we have had several activities such as selling broken ornaments, pleading with people to buy noisemakers at the Thanksgiving game, and collecting bottles and cans to be sent to our local brewery.

Overall we've had a great year; maybe next year we can pick on freshmen instead of picking on those in our own class, but I doubt we'll ever grow up!

SOPHOMORE TIMES . . .

After less than two years in the high school, Sophomores cannot be expected to know everything. They have proven, for one, that they don't understand the word "generic" by voting such individuals as Heidi Porter, Lawrence White, and Bob McNeil as most generic.

A real Sophomore trait, however is bag-dumping. Some of the leading dumpers awarded "Class Bagdumpers" are: Mike Alexopoulous, Chris Bocci and Rob Dolman.

The Sophomore Class also voted Nathan Wright, Perri Mertins, Julie DiPalma and Julie diCiccio as those most likely to end up in a straight jacket. Most sarcastic sophomores (those that use normal sarcasm and not juniores) are Kristen Bartninski, Robbyn Chaisson, Keith Bonarrigo, Jamie Hull and Christine Arnold.

Yet another typically sophomore trait is skateboarding and snowboarding. Voted by their class most likely to flip out in a snowboarding accident were Todd Perkins, Keith Bonarrigo, and Ben Hurd.

JUNIORS

You are about to embark on a journey into a dimension of sight and sound, a virtualistic land where the rules of linguistics and logic do not apply. You hear "horse code" up ahead. You are now entering THE SARCASM ZONE!

A lone voice rises above the mechanical grind of gum against teeth in a dingy class room:

"and so the earth rotates around the sun at an acceleration of $[6.0 \times 10 \text{ m/s}^2]$ "

Mark-"Who is he talking to?"

Sarah-"Easy! Understandable! Makes Sense!"

Matt-"Nooo-it doesn't!"

"You don't know this?" asks Mr. Q.

Jeff-"Oh, ya got us, ya got us Mr. Quigley, we learned this in third grade!"

Mr. Q-"Now look, you simply manipulate Newton's second law to find the centripetal acceleration by . . ."

Nancy-"Errm!"

"Ack!" Noises suspiciously similar to a cat choking on furballs come from Julie's corner of the room, followed by laughter from the rest of the class.

"You know . . . if we really tried . . . to . . . better our intellects . . . "-Mike

Sue-"Who's he talking to?"

"Erm! Love him!"-a chorus of female voices

Sue breaks out with a "I've seen it!"

Mark turns around-"Sue -Prepare."

SLAPP!

"Mark!" yell Amy "He always schlops so hard."

Mark, Mike and Matt break into a stirring rendition of "Oh but it is?"

As the bell rings you quietly back out of the SARCASM ZONE, hoping only that no one normal has seen you.

JUNIOR TIMES . .

Juniors are fast approaching seniority and have become more decisive than the rest of the underclassmen. Juniors know who they are, and who everyone else is.

They know for instance, that Joe McLaughlin is by far the most likely person in the class to wreck five cars before graduation, with four times as many votes as any other candidates in his category. They also feel that Lee Prentiss, Sarah McDowell and DiDi Levesque would wreck, oh-maybe a couple.

The Juniors also feel that Mark Gahm and Matthew Salah are both very likely to own a computer company. Runners up were Amy Lovell, Paul Rogers and Mike Zagray.

On the reverse, those voted "Most likely to remain in town" were Tammy Smith, Marci Dupray, and Dawn Carey. There were a few suprise votes in this category, though, for a few people who will be out like a shot after graduation.

Overwhelmingly voted most bizarre where the "G.O.-The Generic Offense"—otherwise known as Dan Foley, Jeff Carter, and Mike Zagray. Jenn Pignato picked up enough votes from being a "Lick Sister" to take second, and Ed Matt took third. Another "Lick Sister", Andrea Drown, was next, and Gabrielle Foote and Luke Macorelle picked up a lot of votes together.

The main characteristic of the Junior Class however, is the new sarcastic language created by the Sarcasm Queen Herself—Julie Caccamise. Her court includes Mark Gahm, Jeff Carter, Mike Zagray and Sarah Johnson. This language had bound the class together and has antagonized the rest of the school.

It's 7:30 a.m., Friday morning and Art History is the first block of the day. Dan Walker "opens" the artroom, struggling with portfolio in hand.

Naomi and Anne enter. Simultaneously the three students take off their jackets, and laugh; they have tried to outdo each other in the most revolting "arty" fashions. Mrs. King enters.

"Mrs. King wins." exclaims Anne, "And I thought "all black" would take the cake."

At 7:42 the class slowly commences.

"Monica needs help with the yearbook today!" announces Mrs. King. "We've got a deadline today!"

"Does that mean we can't watch the PBS film on Caravaggio today?" inquires Ellen.

Dan stands to protest (as usual), "I don't think we should be corrupted by that playboy Caravaggio, anyway, Mrs. KinGE!"

The argument begins.

"Swinger" Dave struts in late, tie-dye on, coffee in hand. "Take it easy Mrs. King, I think it's about time for another one of your moon-viewing parties."

Mrs. King sighs, "Where's Jon?"

"I think he's in the other room!" smiles Elizabeth, another helpful hint from Miss Pauley.

Mrs. King proceeds to the other room. John is asleep at "his" drawing table.

"Jon!" Mrs. King flares.

John turns his head and opens his eyes to find himself face-down to yet another "Tribute to Norman" painting.

Mrs. King cries, "These after hour painting sessions have got to stop."

Monica arrives, late again, and begins passing out lay-out sheets, "Make sure you crop the pictures!", she says.

Everyone gets to work except Kieth, who's standing at the door, with his hands in his pockets saying, "Howdy!", or "Have a nice day!", to passers-by.

"Monica," Mrs. King says to Naomi, "Have you finished those block prints yet?"

Naomi would have acknowledged Mrs. King normally, but today her mind was on something else: the Shelf Wars.

"Mrs. King, do you have a screwdriver I can borrow?" Anne asks innocently. The bell rings, the students file out. Mrs. King leans back in her chair, Cafe Vienna in hand, "Now I know why I never had kids," she says, and laughs Let the games begin.

SENIOR ART SELECTIONS

T'S ABOUT TIME . . .

To Appreciate Those Artists,
For Whom Art Is Not Necessarily A Career Goal

This is Heather Lamore's first art class. She intends to pursue a career as a travel agent, and hopes to use her art experience in designing travel posters.

Kathy MacDougall is a first year art student. She doesn't plan to go to art school, but wants to continue drawing for pleasure.

Ross Young is a first year art student. He plans a career in military, engineering or architecture.

Rachel Popek has taken art classes for each of her four years. She has no concrete plans for the future, but hopes to direct plays, work in advertising, or join a vice squad.

Mandy Howarth has taken two years of art at Ipswich High School. She would like to study communications next year, where she hopes to use her artistic talent.

Sally Sample, a new student at Ipswich High School, spends most of her free time in the art room. She's undecided about what she wants to do next year.

GARY

Yvette Shrank has been interested in art for many years. Yvette's first choice for school next fall is Montserrat College of Art in Beverly.

JEFF

Tom Standley, another first year art student, is interested in drafting. He plans a career in engineering.

IT'S ABOUT TIME FOR THE CLASS OF '89

Where will you be in ten years?

At a Celtics game, serving beer, 2.50 A cup 2 per person

-Jon Madden

Finishing neverending years of medical school, probably supporting a drug habit. Intravenous that is . . .

-Keisha Anderson

Sitting in the orthodontist office, waiting to get our braces off.

-Kathy MacDougall and Monica Studley

Northernmost Canada, living in an igloo with walrus and wolves watching Mary Tyler Moore reruns.

-Jeremy Keller

Working on a farm in Central America.

-Kristen Schaffer

What is the scariest thing that ever happened to you?

Gaining Weight.

-Kris Darnell

A couple of friends and I drove down a one way street, side swiped a parked Mercedes and were totally lost in Lowell driving around in circles for 5 hours. It was 12:30 am, I had to be home at 11:00 and we were out of gas. Now I know my parents forbid me to go to Lowell.

-Roni Boyles

I went to bed early.

-Chris Gram

What was the most embarrassing thing that ever happened to you?

Coming to school and finding out that I forgot to wash off the shaving cream.

-Jon Madden

Losing my shorts in second wing, junior year.

POPULARITY POLL

Favorite Movie

A Fish Called Wanda took first in this category which was a big hit for Monty Python lovers. Rainman and Broadcast News tied for second.

Favorite Actress

Was it the exposure of her chest in Dangerous Liaisons or her obsessive behavior in Fatal Attraction? Well, whatever it was, Glenn Close took first for best actress. Sigorney Weaver was a close second.

Favorite Actor

Well once again, Tom Cruise took this category, what is it now, four years in a row? Come on girls, lets get some originality. Dustin Hoffman took second for his role in Rainman and Keifer Sutherland took third.

Favorite TV Sitcom

We may be merely high school students, but we still seem to appreciate thirtysomething, with its deep and intense plots, although it has to be thought about while watching it, it still took first for favorite T.V. sitcom. On the lighter side, Cheers took second and LA Law took third.

Favorite Band

The ever popular U2 was voted as the favorite band in our poll, as well as most of the other polls in the United States at this time, not bad for Irishmen. Def Leppard was voted second in this category.

Favorite Male/ Female Performer

Phil Collins, the singer, drummer and actor got the number one spot for the favorite male performer. It was a three way tie for second between Pat Metheny, Ziggy Marley and of course, Sting.

Anita Baker, with her tree shattering voice, ha ha, took first for the favorite female performer. Tied for second was Sheena Easton and Sinead O'Conner, who was so excited about winning, lost her hair.

Favorite Concert

INXS won by a landslide for the best concert, let me guess, Great Woods, August 1988? Some others which were way behind were Def Leppard and Pink Floyd.

Favorite Song:

Well, it was an interesting five way tie for first in this category. The winners were Pour Some Sugar on Me, Hold on Loosely, She Wants to Dance With Me, Shattered and Under My Thumb.

Favorite Drink

Coca-cola or Coke took first place for the best drink once again, come on guys, lets get some new ideas! Iced tea took second. These actually weren't the winners, but the real winners could not be tallied.

Favorite Food

Yes the winner for the best food was pizza, what else is new? Tied for second were popcorn and Smartfood, although they are the same in a sense, others just think that popcorn just does not compare to Smartfood.

Best Cliche

For Best Cliche Yesss took it, but following close behind was the trite cheerleader term C-ya, and don't forget the hand gesture to make it perfect.

Worst Cliche

Guess what? Juniorisms won for Worst Cliche, what a surprise! Oh and it didn't? For second C-ya Wow, it got second for best as well, does that say something girls?

LIZZIE'S ITEMS

Can't wait for the 1992 Olympic Games. No doubt in my mind who our gold medalists will be: Julie, Bill, Amanda, Jason, Rebecca, Gardy and Mike. We know they'll be out there on the playing field. They're IHS's finest athletes: Class Athletes for the Class of '89.

Ever hear of bodyworks? Amanda, Erin, Jason and Shane have. If you've seen them lately, you could plainly see why they were voted Best All-Around Body for the Class of '89. Take my advice, check them out!

"Yeah right!" Sarcasm just oozes from Bob, Dianne, Brian, Yvette, Dan, Adam, Mike and Jen. They are the Most Sarcastic people I know. Where do they get some of the things the say?

Thank God for call waiting. Otherwise we'd never get in touch with Becca, Jenn, Tracie and Scott—they're the people with The Largest Phone Bill in the Class of '89. They're the ones for you New England: New England Telephone.

HIP-HIP-HORRAY!! Shannon and Jason have the Most School Spirit in the Class of '89. You can always find them at school events rallying on the Tigers. Thanks for the support guys!

Save the Whales! Do away with research animals! Sounds like Class Animal Lovers Jen and Sarah. Oh, by the way, have you hugged your pet today?

U2. Sting. Pink Floyd. Eddie Brickell and the New Bohemians. INXS. Eddie Money. Yes, they've seen them all. Dave, Jeff and Dianne are definitely our Concert Freaks. Directions to the Centrum? No problem- these guys know it like the back of their hands- in fact they've done it so many time, they could do it in their sleep.

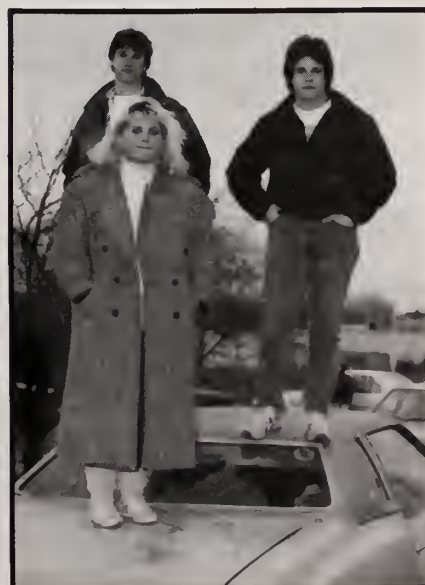

Where will you be in ten years? Sad to say Kathy and Shawn, but according to the Class of '89, you will be the first ones in our class to go "wahoo". We love you, but you know that you'll end up in a padded cell. But don't worry, we'll come visit you every other Sunday.

"Hey, how's it going? Good, good!" Sometimes we could talk all day to Amy, Kathleen, Amanda, Shane and Kathy. They're the Most Congenial in our class. They're always got a smile for everyone.

Where will you be in ten years? Vice president? Millionaire? Happy? We know Chris, Keisha and Michele definitely have the where-with- all to be one of those things or maybe all of them. Who knows? I do- thats who! And I know that Chris, Keisha and Michele are Most Likely to Succeed.

Some people will come out of the house this morning looking like they just had it done. You know who you are, your hair always looks good- whats your secret? Anyway, Mandy, Jeff, Yvette and Chris were voted Most Glamorous Hair. Hey guys- got any hairspray?

What did you do last night Sean, Paula, Mary and Mike? Another hot lap? We know you're the Class Drivers Who had Done the Most HOT LAPS. Did you see anything new last night? How's Pavillion? Still there?

"Make'em laugh, make'em laugh, make'em laugh." What will they think of next? Would the real Class Clowns please stand up? (Brian, Dave and Mike and Mike that's your cue!) Tee-hee-hee!

Where will you be in ten years from now? Well, our bet is that Jeff and Rachael will be "caught". They were voted Most Likely to Get Caught . . . Hmm . . . Get "caught" at what?

"(AB) = $2 \cdot 2$ (cos alpha cos beta divided by sin alpha sin beta)" "Then, cos (alpha minus beta) = cos alpha squared with sin alpha sin beta . . ." "Really? Then f (a-b) must be the square root of the velocity of . . ." Does this sound like a normal conversation? For our Class Calculators, Michele and Chris, its as easy as abc (or is it a squared b squared = c squared?)

"Really? We look like we're 21?" Sure you do . . . Claire, Kathleen, Christine and Elizabeth you are the Most Gullible in our class. Will you fall for anything?"

"Can we interest you in some ocean-front property in Arizona?" Give it up Dianne and Jeremy, we know your class voted you most likely to become a Used Car Salesman.

Got a problem? Bring it to Kristen and Monica. We all know that they are the Most Willing to Lend a Hand. How many times have they supplied the tissues for you? Thanks guys.

December 1 'til mid-April Liz, Derrick and Kirk (our Class Ski Bums) can be found swooshing down the slopes of the nearest mountain. Guess what guys- its supposed to snow tonight.

No guys, you're not supposed to sleep in class! Get any sleep last night Kathy, Jon and Barbie? We know you're the Class Insomniacs. Tell the truth- were you out partying last night or was it studying? Get some sleep!!

"Sunny days- sweeping the clouds away." " Nothing but blue skies, heading my way." Our Class Optimists are . . . Shane, Amy, Elizabeth and Amanda" The sun will come out tomorrow." "I'm happy-happy." "Don't you know everything's all right . . ."

"You're never fully dressed without a smile." Shane, Kathleen and Bethany- when you smile you light up the room. We know that you've got the Nicest Smile in the Class of '89. Tell me, when you get in trouble, can you just smile your way out of it? Flash us those pearly whites.

Whose the Best Date? Unanimously June 11, 1989. What a class of comedians we have. Undoubtedly, June 11 will be the best date that I've had in a long time. Right behind the eleventh, came Shane and Kathleen. All three would be nice . . .

Have you seen Stacie, Tony, Jeff, Becky, Jen or Debbie? Neither have we- thats why they were voted the People Least Seen in School.

"Tip-toe through the tulips" - for Gardy, Joellen, Elizabeth and Jason, its practically impossible. You won't see them sporting those tiny little Italian shoes- they don't exactly have "petit-feet"- in fact, they were voted Biggest Feet in the Class of '89. You wouldn't want them stepping on your toes.

Picasso? Monet? Renoir? HAH! Next to Dan and Naomi, they look like amateurs. As if you hadn't already guessed, they are our Class Artists in Studio Art. They can usually be found down at the Art room creating a masterpiece.

"What light through yonder window breaks? it is the east and Juliet is the sun. Arise fair sun and kill the envious moon." Our students with a flair for the "theatah" are Brooks, Roni, Naomi, Ellen, Kristen, and Suzi. We'll be seeing their stars in the sidewalk in front of the Chinese theater.

The hills are alive with the sound of Music. Roni, Jenn and Gretchen are our class singers. Sing us a song! And to accompany you, we'll get our Class Musicians, Dan on the guitar, Jeremy on the bass, Chris on the piano and Deirdre on the clarinet. Sounds good to me!

Standing at the corner watching all the girls go by- definitely a pastime for our Class Swingers Kevin, Dave and Mike. OK Guys, redheads, blonds or brunettes; which do gentleman prefer?

"Oh say can you see . . . " We're proud to be Americans (even if the Republicans are in the White House.) Our All-Americans (apple- pie, Mom and baseball) are Jason, Elizabeth and Ross . . . " What so proudly we hailed by the twilight's last gleaming . . . the land of the free and the home of the brave!"

Quick- get off the sidewalk! Claire, Laura and Tony are on the road (sometimes the sidewalk). They were voted Worst Drivers in the Class of '89- their premiums tell all. And then we have Monica who knows all the registry officials on a firstname basis- after taking the driver's ed test so many times . . .

Party, party, party- let the good times roll. You guessed it, Class Party Animals? None other than the Class of 1989 (especially you Steve!). There's nothing that we like better than a good party- so whose house is it at this weekend?

Awh! Aren't they cute? Tell me Torie, Lori, and Eric, do people start talking "baby talk" to you a lot just because you're cute. One thing though, you're not just cute, you're SUPERCUTE!! That's why you've been voted Class Cutie! Awh . . .

Hey Baby, what's your sign? Come here often? Nice try Shannon and Derrick, but we've got your numbers- Class Flirts that is.

"Beach Blanket Bingo- that's the name of the game." Our Class Beach Bums are Gardy, Jeff, Carrie, Sue and Jenn. Hey guys, how's the water?

OK Shawn, Brandee, Kathy, and you to Ms. Townsend- relax and take a deep breath. You were voted Most Stressed in the Class of '89. I guarantee that a new day will dawn tomorrow regardless of the fact that the newspaper hasn't been laid out, or that not all of the books are shelved or even if you haven't done all of your homework. It's OK- we still love you even if your hair is gray.

When Bethany and Shane walk into the room I'm sure they hear cat-calls. They're the Best Looking- we know why. Don't you just seeth with envy when they arrive on the scene looking beautiful? We still love you Shane and Bethany. (P.S.- Seth, you can't vote for yourself!)

Jeff and his Bug, Gardy and his "Mob-Mobile", Bob and His Truck, Becca and her import, Sarah and her green station wagon and Kendell and her Saab. Best Buddies? No, this is the Car that best Represents Their Owner. Just look for these cars driving around town, and you'll know whose driving. Beep-beep.

Did you say shy? BJ, Elizabeth, Demetra, CJ, Patty and Heather are our shyest people in the Class of '89. There are just certain things that you do not say. Its OK, we won't bite.

There's nothing like a cold perrier (with a twist of lemon), goat cheese and some quality time with these future YUPPIES- Keisha, Bob, Catie, Adam, Naomi and Jeff. Good news guys, the market closed on a high note this week.

"What did he say?"

"He said up two streets and take a right."

No, Kathleen, Carrie and Tony certainly don't need "Miracle Ear"- thats why they are the Best Listeners in the Class of '89. They would be happy to listen to your grievances- thanks guys.

Why do today what you can do tomorrow? Paper due Friday? Theres always Thursday night- I can do it at Key Club. And if I don't get it done, there's always Friday morning. You guessed it- the Class of 1989 (even you Kathy) unanimously won Class Procrastinator.

Let me look into you eyes Jen, Kristie, Kris, Shane, Seth and Shawn. One look at them is reason enough why they were voted Sexiest Eyes- all our eyes are on you guys!

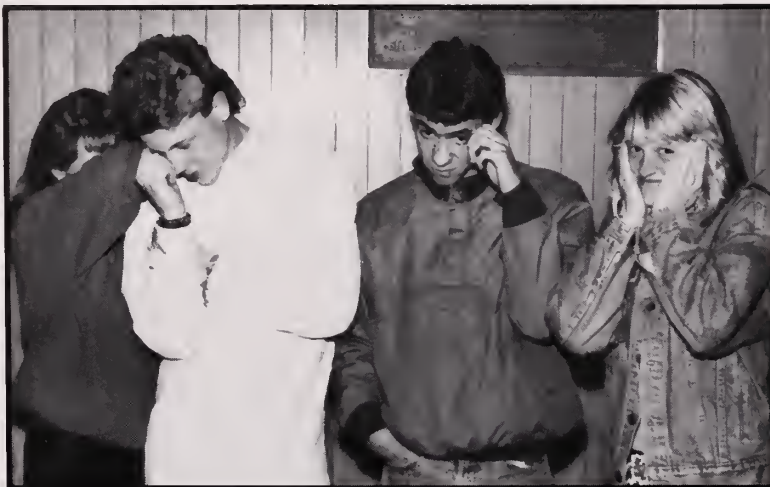

Come up and see me sometime big boy . . . Forget Mae West and Marilyn Monroe, we've got Roni, Shannon, Mandy and Melissa. They're our Class Teases, our very own boyologists.

"Tisk- tisk tisk!" You wouldn't bring Kevin and Jenn home to Mom- unless you wanted her to say "I told you so!" They're the Ones Your Mother Warned You About. Kevin, Jenn- be good!!

"Just Shut Up- will you!" (followed by a sigh of exasperation). Erin? Mandy? Ms. Townsend? Relax, don't let them get to you. You were voted Most Aggravated- and we know why. Junior "noises", incompetency and pop quizzes. Mandy, Becca and Jeremy, make sure you stay away from them, you were voted Most Aggravating. Nothing personal . . .

Hey Errin, Liz, Jeff and Seth- where do you shop- Bloomingdales? Do you pick out clothes for "Vogue"? We think you're the Best Dressed in the class. Can I borrow that sweater?

You can always tell when Kathy, Barbie, Joe, Dave and Paul are embarrassed, they're our Class Blushers. Just put them on the spot and watch them light up- whether its praising them or giving them a spotlight, they give new meaning to the words "beet red". In fact, I think they've developed a new shade of red.

"Put on your red shoes and DANCE the blues." There's nothing that Jason, Catie, Monica, Kathleen and Dave like better than to tear up the dance floor- in fact they can tear up the dance floor as well that they are the Best Dancers in the Class of '89. May I have this dance?

I don't want to grow up I'm a "Toys R Us" kid . . . Does this sound like Jenn, Brian, Keith, Pam and Chris. They were voted Most Likely Never to Grow Up. OK, time to put down the toys, shut off the cartons and come inside and fill out your applications. No, you can't go out and play!

Whoa Baby! . . . ! @ # $ % & * ? ! # @ % $? ! We know who our Class Spazes are- Adam, Brooks, Naomi and Yvette!!!! You guys are absolutely off the wall. ! @ # @ $ % & * ? & ! ? !

Look out "Hanz and Franz" - Amanda, Jeremy and Tony want to pump you up. Their Class voted them Biggest Muscles (with special mention for Jason- who got biggest neck).

Think of all of history's famous dous: Bonnie and Clyde, Michele and Kathy, Roadrunner and Coyote, Julie B and Julie G., Fred and Barney, Dan and Seth, Laurel and Hardy, Brian and Mike, Peanut Butter and Jelly, Christine and Corinna. Class Buddies need we say more?

"You must remember this, a kiss is just a kiss, a sigh is just a sigh- the fundamental things apply, as time goes by. And when two lovers woo, they still say I love you . . . " Our Class Couples are Yvette and Chris, Carrie and Bill and Adam and Monica. (Sigh) isn't that cute . .

If you look in the dictionary under Most Outgoing, it would refer you to Keisha and Dianne's names. Is there anyone that you aren't friends with? They're nice to have around because they are always willing to chat.

"What a lovely shirt you're wearing Mr Storer, and by the way, I really thought your class was not only the greatest class that I have ever taken, but I feel I have grown spiritually and I am a much better person for taking your class. Can I get anything for you? Did I mention that I think you're the greatest study hall teacher "Does this sound like Becca, Keisha, Naomi and Jeremy? We think so, that they've been voted the Class Brown Nosers. " . . . the way you write on the board Andi, is just magnificent- your class is always a delight! Did you get your hair cut? It looks beautiful "

The all important question: Is the glass half full or half empty? According to Gretchen, Shawn, Alicia and Stacie- its more than half empty, its two- fourths empty! Cheer up guys, its supposed to rain tomorrow.

Hey Dan, Barbie and Greg "if you were any more laid back, you'd be laid out." You are definitely the Most Laid Back in our class so just go ahead and relax. I would really love to see them totally spaz out someday- but, will it ever happen?

BAND

Concert Band is a class which meets everyday and performs in winter and summer concerts as well as graduation, Veterans' Day, and Memorial Day. Members of the concert band are also required to play in the Marching Band, which rehearses outside of school on Saturday mornings and Tuesday nights. Along with playing at the football games, and the Thanksgiving Day game, Marching Band also plays at all parades. This year the Drum Major was Jeremy Keller and the Assistant Drum Major was Kristen Murray.

CONCERT CHOIR

With the support and guidance of our new choral director, Claire Cayot, the IHS Concert Choir continues to expand and improve while the music we perform increases in difficulty. Not only do we learn how to use our talent to its fullest potential, but we also learn the importance of working together as a team to help make the IHS concert choir the best it can possibly be.

BEL CANTO

Bel Canto is a select choral group which, under the direction of Monica Cirrito, involves performing a variety of music. Members of Bel Canto are required to audition for the Northeast Senior District Chorus. This year, those accepted were Roni Boyles, Jennifer Lang, Amy Lovell, Ruth Berry, and Martha Klein. PEER ED

As a group, Peer Ed works to make Ipswich residents, particularly students and parents, aware of the problems and pressures which students, mainly teenagers, face in today's society. We deal with problems such as Drug and Alcohol abuse, peer pressure, and suicide. We are trained to work one on one or with large groups, and on top of it all, we have fun. the weekend training sessions are always something to look forward to. Peer Ed is a group who cares.

AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL

Amnesty International is a politically impartial organization that fights for the protection of human rights. Often, a prisoner's life depends on how many letters he/she receives. Our principal purpose, as a student group, is to write to the leaders of governments on behalf of the political prisoners they hold. Our goals are not only to appeal to the governments but also to raise public awareness, because "not everyone is free . . . yet."

TIGER TRANSCRIPT

The Tiger Transcript is the vehicle that brings the general public into life at IHS- we're the "Eye of the Tiger". We've tried to approach both hard news stories as well as human interest features. The Tiger Transcript is the result of many long hours of hard work by the editors, reporters and advisor B. Scott Hersey. For the reporters, it meant taking on assignments, writing good stories and usually meeting deadlines. For the editors, it meant chasing down reporters, meeting every Sunday and coping with a lot of stress. We think it was worth it and we hope you were proud of your paper. Thank you to all who contributed. Good luck next year.

CHAMELEON

"If you've got a short story, poem or essay CHAMELEON needs your touch—so write for us baby . . ."

To the infinite embarrassment of six nameless girls and the amusement of the rest of the school, these words echoed through the halls of Ipswich High School before our first Chameleon entry deadline on October 7. Chameleon class members, however, do a lot more than sing. We write poems and short stories, and are embarrassed once more by having to read them out loud in front of fellow class mates. We are also responsible for all aspects of the magazine. We produce—writing at least two essays, typing, doing layout, and sending corny but well meaning acceptance and rejection slips. The Chameleon has been quite an experience.

TIGER TALES

Tiger Tales is an in-school newspaper produced by Mr. Laakso's Journalism class. Its staff of reporters probes Ipswich High to get the hard-hitting stories that the entire school and town enjoys reading. The staff is also well trained in handling editor Shawn Hatcher's high stress and hypertension. If Shawn doesn't have a nervous breakdown, at least three spectacular issues of Tiger Tales will be published this year.

SPEECH CLASSES

12th Grade Speech class is not your typical IHS English class. It is a unique and challenging course, taught by Mrs. Faust, that focuses on speaking rather than grammar or literature. The course is designed to help students develop and perform effective speeches for audiences of all sizes. Students write speeches and analyze the most effective ways of presenting them. A major required assignment is to do a speaking performance in front of a large audience. One of the two speech classes performed in the school play, "WORKING", to fulfill this assignment. Most of the class had no experience in this kind of assignment and discovered hidden talents they never knew they possessed. Speech class is a course in which every student should take part in because it helps to develop qualities that will be needed outside the pastel colored halls of Ipswich High School.

KEY CLUB

The Ipswich High School Key Club is a non-profit organization established to help better our community-international, national, state, local and school. The Key Club was started two years ago by a student and with the help of the Ipswich Kiwanis Club, it has thrived. The Key Club has helped in such problems as feeding the hungry, helping the needy, sponsoring a Guatemalan child, donating to Ipswich Caring, funding a Halloween party for the children of Ipswich, and stocking our lovely high school fish tank that brightens the foyer, with fish.

REGIONAL ADVISORY BOARD

The Regional Advisory Board is a group of students from schools in the Northeast region of Massachusetts who get together to discuss regional issues and the rights of students within the schools. All of the representatives from schools in each region meet once a month where issues affecting students statewide are discussed, as well as controversial issues within the individual schools. At Ipswich High School, this year's two representatives are junior Susan Mikel and senior Amy Player.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The Student Government is composed of eight student elected representatives; two from each class. The purpose of this group is to represent the student body on student related issues. The most prominent issue the student government has dealt with this year has been the controversial honor roll system. The handling of the honor roll issue, as well as other projects planned in the future to improve the quality of the high school, has made this years Student Government a success.

OEA

O. E. A. (Office Education Association) is a group of students that have taken one or more business classes and plan to persue a career in the business field. For one weekend in March, members travel to a convention where they take tests to compete against other business students in the area. Winners from this region travel to Louisville Kentucky where they compete nationally. In the past, Ipswich High School has had a least one representative go to Kentucky. Advisors for O. E. A. are Mrs Henrick and Mrs Tozier. Officers are Brandee Sotiropoulos-president, Gabrielle Foote-vice president, Jen Chouinard-secretary, and Paula Dattilo-Treasurer.

While there, we will learn more about our government by attending its meetings and through our own debates and group discussions.

1988 STATE

TOURNAMENT

This season was a tough one but we traveled far with the guidance of Coach Holly Johnson, through the sprints, scrimmages, practices and games to reach our destination- a tournament berth. We were strong, fast and aggressive, but our strength lay in our togetherness and our ability to work as one. On that tournament day at Wilmington, our fleet footed team clawed its way to the final stroke-off round. We sunk our cleats into murky mud and used all of our Tiger might; but no one could explain our feelings on the closing of our season better than Gretchen Storer did as we boarded the bus after our defeat, "I love you guys and I'm proud to have been a member of this team." That is what our team was all about and each and everyone of us knew it as the tears began to roll down our faces

-Good luck next season!

It's about time to thank
. . . Mrs Marchand for bringing food to hungry Yearbook staffers
. . . the A.P. Art class for their "unique" way of helping
. . . Mr Fortado and Mr Mckenzie for dealing with our photo sessions
. . . Tom Keely, our Josten's advisor, who always knew what to do
. . . The House of Hinlin, for taking, and developing our pictures
. . . and most of all, Mrs King for her support and guidance.
